

IDAC Expo - Revolution of Architecture

IDAC Expo – the Architecture, Design and Construction Trade Fair is one of the most prominent fairs held for stakeholders and shareholders in this sector. The event creates an innovative platform to share new ideas. The fair showcases innovations within these sectors as well. IDAC Expo is a revolution in the perceptions of global architectural practices and trends.

Sustainability – Central Theme

Sustainability will be the central theme at the next IDAC Expo. The event targets to educate the emerging state about green building alternatives and construction of facilities considering eco-friendly values. The participants would have an opportunity to learn about new low-emission and highly energy-efficient technologies.

Sustainable architecture helps conserve the environment. It even has the potential to achieve better health and welfare of its inhabitants.

Promoting New Technology

IDAC Expo showcases global technologies in construction methods as well as intelligent building systems. Attendees of the event can comprehend the real-life applications of these new technologies in the construction sector and eventually deliver more robust architecture. These developments allow buildings to become safer, smarter and more prepared for any changes in the future.

Increased Networking at IDAC Expo

IDAC Expo leads the role of increasing networking. Various designers, builders, and architects share stages to impart knowledge. In addition, the Expo hosts different kinds of workshops and seminars where several ideas flourish. This collaboration of seminars and professionals creates new theories and practices in the field of architecture.

Student Programs and Emerging Talent

The aim of IDAC Expo remains to foster future talent. Through its student programs and competitions, young architects and designers grab the opportunity to project their works. Initiatives like these help students to interact with professionals. Employing young people would also plant the seeds for new talent in the architectural sector.

Recognising Excellence with Infinity Awards

IDAC Expo has introduced Infinity Awards to honor architectural excellence. The Award encourages the highest standards of work, thereby creating more iconic spaces than ever.